

TIME TO REBUILD

Winter foods clog the liver and tax the digestion. Summer brings relief in cereals, fruits and green vegetables. Shredded Wheat Biscuit with berries or other fruits is a life-saver for thousands—the whole wheat steam-cooked, shredded and baked. Combines deliciously with berries and all kinds of fresh fruits—a satisfying, nourishing meal for a few cents. Easily prepared without kitchen worry or work.

PHOENIX GIRL WED TO FLAGSTAFF MAN

Miss Eleanor Ina Austen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Austen of the south side, and a lineal descendant of Jane Austen, the novelist, was married last night to James McRae of Flagstaff, at the home of Rev. C. R. Broadhead on Indianola avenue. Rev. Broadhead officiated.

Following the ceremony light refreshments were served, and then a wedding supper. The following relatives and friends were present: Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Austen, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Wilkinson, Joan, Billie and Ruth Wilkinson, R. Schaefer, Carl H. Reeser, the Misses Viola and Myrtle Champlin and Mrs. Ernest Dean Ryder. The young couple will make their home in Flagstaff.

FLIRTED WITH LAW ONE TIME TOO MANY

T. B. (Tex) Bond, who had been flirting with the law for a long time, is now seriously engaged with it. He is in jail in default of a bond of $1,000 fixed by Justice Wheeler by whom he had been held to the superior court on a charge of mortgaging the property of another.

Bond was arrested on the complaint of John Lively of Glendale who said that he had leased him 20 head of cattle at $1 a head per month. The lease provided that the increase the cattle should be divided equally between them. Lively charged that sometime after that Bond mortgaged five head of the cattle to the Maricopa Creamery company.

TELLS OF ELKS' CONVENTION AT ATLANTIC CITY

A. A. Betts Reports Meeting the Biggest and Greatest in Elk History—Evangeline Booth Is Wonderful Speaker

"The annual grand lodge convention of the Elks at Atlantic City was by far the biggest and best convention the order has ever held in the report of A. A. Betts, past exalted ruler of the Phoenix B. P. O. E., who attended the convention as the Arizona delegate.

"Eighteen hundred delegates were present," Mr. Betts said, "the next largest convention having had 1,500 in attendance. Several thousand members, in addition to the delegates, were present. In fact, the convention opened with at least 5,000 Elks present on July 8."

"There were too many things done," continued Mr. Betts, "and too many matters considered to tell even briefly, but two things, to my mind, stood out over everything else in the convention. One of these was the address of Evangeline Booth, and the other was the thanks of the government for the work done by the Elks during and since the war for the general good of all."

"Evangeline Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, is the only woman that was ever invited to address the grand lodge of the Elks, and she was the first number on the program. She spoke for an hour and her was the most inspiring address I have ever heard. She had those fellows shedding tears, and that was some accomplishment. She told of the work of her Army back of the front, and she thanked the Elks for their work in raising funds for the greatly enlarged home service campaign the Salvation Army now has under way."

A Heroic Girl Worker
"Characteristic of her stories of the service rendered at the front was that of one of the Army's girl workers. She was stationed just back of the lines in a threatened sector, dispensing cheer and food to the boys at every opportunity. Things got hotter and hotter, and finally the commanding officer came to her station and told her she must move further back, that she was in the gravest danger. 'No, colonel,' she replied, 'I am here to do everything I can for these boys, to die for them and with them if necessary.' She stayed."

Mr. Betts then related how representatives of the government had been present at the convention to thank the order for their war work, particularly in their aid to partly disabled soldiers who were entitled to rehabilitation work at the expense of the government, and of the part the Elks had played in caring for these men while the government was temporarily short of funds for the work.

"Nearly half a million dollars was advanced to these men by the order," said Mr. Betts, "to take care of them until another appropriation should become available. It was given to them in loans to tide them over while their application for rehabilitation and vocational training were under consideration, to be repaid in small payments, and it is a fact that out of the thousands helped not a single man has failed to repay the order the money advanced."

"I had a very pleasant trip, outside the fact that it was so disagreeably hot in the east that I was mighty glad to get back to Arizona to a decent summer climate."

PHOENIX CAN LEARN LESSON FROM L. A. IN GETTING FACTORIES

"Phoenix can not only benefit greatly from the big fabric and tire factories of the Goodyear company, but in my opinion can learn some very valuable lessons from the way the company was received and the reason they selected Los Angeles," said B. E. Marks yesterday, after returning from a trip to Los Angeles, during which he attended the luncheon in honor of A. F. Seiberling, president of the Goodyear company, which was held on Wednesday of last week in the big ballroom of the hotel Alexandria.

"More than 500 men were present at the luncheon," continued Mr. Marks, including the biggest men in Southern California, both as to brains and money, and when Seiberling appeared the entire assembly arose as one man to do him honor. When he arose to speak he was greeted with tumultuous applause, and his talk was punctuated with the sort of applause that showed that every man there realized what the Goodyear plant means to Los Angeles and was glad to let him know that it was understood."

"The reasons cited by Mr. Seiberling for the selection of Los Angeles over other coast points were impressive. Water, plenty of pure water, was one of them. Plenty of free labor was another, a determining factor between Los Angeles and San Francisco, and the Goodyear company is famous for their care of their employees and the contented men they keep in consequence. Cheap power was another determining factor, another thing besides water that we must have in Arizona, and that we will have if the reclamation projects now being pushed are brought to actual consummation."

"The Goodyear plant at Los Angeles will have a capacity of 7,000 tires daily, double the original plans, and I have no doubt that other tire manufacturers will follow them. This means better prices for a bigger production of Salt River Valley cotton, and I can see no reason why this valley should not also have the mills to weave the fabrics—but we must have cheap power and good water to get them, and we must make the pioneers of new industries welcome and then more welcome, and do all we can to help them, for they help us."

Mr. Marks went to Los Angeles to attend the semi-annual meeting of the trustees of the Fraternal Brotherhood, of which he is a member, and while there he was selected to represent the Fraternal Brotherhood at the National Fraternal Congress to be held August 26 to 29 in Detroit.

REPUBLICAN STORY STIRRED SOME LAX CONCERNS TO LIFE

The coffers of the state were enriched $500 and the employees of the State Corporation Commission put to frenzied activity in answering telephone calls and opening letters of inquiry—and all because The Republican printed a story last Wednesday morning to the effect that the commission was going to take action against the multitude of corporations in the state which had been delinquent in filing their annual reports and paying their annual fees to the state.

"It is nothing short of phenomenal," said A. A. Betts, chairman of the corporation commission, to a Republican representative yesterday. "The number of people who read—and heed—The Republican is nothing short of phenomenal."

"In the Wednesday morning paper you had a story stating just what the corporation commission is going to do in the matter of corporations that are in arrears with their annual reports and annual registration fees, and before night more than $500 had been paid in by delinquent concerns. Nor was that all. The telephone rang all day in the matter, letters began to pour in within 12 hours after the story appeared in print—in fact, it is quite impossible to estimate the benefit to the state in a financial way, and the various corporations in the matter of getting into a healthy legal condition that this one story in The Republican has done."

"You may say, however, that the commission is going right along the line your paper stated. We are preparing the notices to be sent out to all the delinquent corporations, some 30,000 of them, and C. M. Gandy, assistant attorney general, is preparing the form of complaint to be used in the dissolution suits against those who do not comply with the law."

"To be sure we cannot file 30,000 suits in one court; no court could handle them, so we will be compelled to file them in every county in the state against the corporations in the various counties which have not or do not soon comply with the law. My only regret is that the money derived from compelling these corporations to comply with the law will not enable the corporation commission to broaden out and more adequately cover its field, for this money goes into the general fund, not into the fund for the use of the commission."

MILITARY DAY AT STATE FAIR WEEK

Thursday of State Fair Week has been set apart by the fair commission as American Legion day, the program to be almost entirely military in character, put on by the co-operation of the state fair commission and a committee from the state organization of the American Legion, to be appointed by the state commander, Andrew J. Martin.

Special drills by a troop of cavalry with "high school horses," capable of involved maneuvers and stunts, will be staged. A mounted band will furnish the music and there will be a special airplane stunt program as well as numerous other features.

LYNCH NEGRO WHO ASSAULTS WOMAN

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]

GILMER, Tex., July 24.—Gilmer was quiet tonight after a night and day of intense excitement brought about by the attack yesterday on a white woman, and the lynching today at the courthouse square of Chilton Jennings, young negro, for the crime, after he was identified and had confessed. Jennings was captured by a sheriff's posse early today three miles from Gilmer after an all night search. He was placed in jail at noon. A mob soon gathered and with the aid of sledge hammers, broke the steel doors of the jail.

Just as the negro was brought out and a rope placed about his neck, a man on horseback approached and was handed the other end of the rope. He galloped away, dragging the negro several blocks to the courthouse square. Jennings was then hanged. In a few minutes the crowd dispersed leaving the body hanging. It was cut down at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The woman is in a critical condition.
